Optimizing Transgender Health: A Core Course for Health Care Providers

Following the success of our first-ever Advancing Excellence in Transgender Health conference this past October, Fenway is pleased to announce the expansion of our training on the health care needs of the transgender community to medical professionals everywhere through our new online training series, TransTalks.

As a new web series featuring presentations from nationally-recognized experts at the 2015 Transgender Conference, TransTalks broadens our initial training around Transgender Health Care in order to make the one-of-a-kind, educational sessions available online to medical professionals everywhere for CME/CEU credit.

Through six videos, each dedicated to individual topics - from surgery overviews and hormone treatments; to primary and preventative care-TransTalks embodies foundational knowledge and training in key aspects of transgender health care to serve as a basis for providing sensitive and comprehensive care to the transgender community.

Starting today, the series is being made available for on-demand viewing on our Trans Talks page incrementally over the next three weeks, with the two latest videos released every Tuesday. We encourage you to watch the latest video trainings on the homepage, and to check back for the remainder of the series in the next two weeks. Additionally, you can follow us on Facebook and Twitter to receive updates as subsequent videos are made available.

We hope you'll find these trainings to be of value and of use, and thank you in advance for sharing this initiative with others, for whom TransTalks may be of critical interest.
